

How to apply car stickers

If you follow these steps you will be able to apply stickers without any bubbling, flat to the surface with strong adhesion.

You will need:

- 1 Atomiser Spray (a plant / garden spray, found in many gardening shops like B&Q)
- 2 J Cloths
- 1 Squeegee or Soft Straight Edge (such as a block of wood or small ruler wrapped in a J Cloth)
- Washing Up Liquid

1. Add a very small amount of washing up liquid into the atomiser spray and fill up with cold water. For example, 2 drops washing up liquid to ½ litre water.
2. Clean the surface of where you will be applying your sticker so that it is free from dirt and grease.
3. Wrap one J Cloth around your straight edge, keeping the edge straight. Wrapping the cloth around the edge avoids damage to the sticker or surface.
4. Take your sticker off the backing sheet and spray the sticky side of the sticker with the water mixture. Ensure that the sticker is not too wet, but not dry either.
5. Spray the surface where the sticker will go.
6. Position the sticker exactly. You will be able to slide the sticker into place.
7. Use your Soft Straight Edge to squeeze the water out from underneath the sticker. Work from the centre of the sticker outwards.
8. Use the other J Cloth to dry up the expelled water.
9. Leave the sticker alone for at least 12 hours to allow the sticker to adhere fully to the surface, then run your straight edge over the sticker once more to remove any water blisters.

Notes:

Try to avoid positioning the sticker in places where the water can not be expelled easily, such as in the corner of a window.

You may see water marks under the surface of window sticker but this will shortly disappear.

The surface will be slippery when you are squeezing out the water mixture so take care not to press too hard otherwise the sticker may move.

Do not apply your sticker to damaged or newly sprayed paintwork.
